'It's Good To Be Different'

We would like our children to be able to see differences as part of who we are; we are all different and we are all special.

We would like our children to understand that differences are nothing to be made fun of! People should not be made to feel ashamed or worried about a difference.

We would like our children to grow up knowing how to treat all people equally well.

We would like our children to be confident about getting help if someone is making them unhappy just for being 'me'!

On Friday, we wore blue to stand up for differences!

Different races, religions, cultures, languages, accents

Different likes, interests, personalities, talents

Different abilities and disabilities

Different looks and features, hair, eyes, size and weight

Boys and girls are all different; they don't always have to like the same things or have the same personalities as the others.

Some men and women are gay.

In our recent consultation, one of our parents also pointed out that we must try not to stereotype boys and girls eg. 'that's a girls' colour', 'that's a man's job' as it can limit what kids play with and choices they make about jobs/ careers.
